

EVERY DAY
SHE FEELS THE URGENCY
TO FIND A CURE.
EVERY NIGHT, TOO.

Each Pfizer medicine takes an average of 12 years to discover, develop, study, test, and retest before it's ready for patients. Why do we work so hard to find new medicines? Because when patient lives are at stake, there's always more to do.

Research and development is only one part of a medicine's journey. Get the full story at Pfizer.com/discover.
